The TESLA oscillator is a German high frequency device equipped with a hand antenna. It works with weak alternating current but very high frequency signals and therefore supports the cells without negative side effects in rebuilding the necessary electrical cell membrane voltage of at least -70 millivolts. At the same time creates an optimal water environment for the cells. Furthermore, treated drinking water, which should be drunk before use, it becomes hexagonal and thus cell available and anti-oxidative.

In addition to a metabolic activation, there is even a dynamisation of food supplements and medicines, in other words they work more healthy.

Dr. Nikola Tesla

Dr. Georges Lakhovsky

The basic inventions go back to the two outstanding scientists Dr. Nikola Tesla and the engineer Dr. Georges Lakhovsky. Dr. Tesla had discovered a new electromagnetic wave (longitudinal wave or Tesla wave) with which one can not only transmit multiple information frequencies like with a radio signal, but additionally and wirelessly also electrical energy. With this antenna you can even make a fluorescent tube glow despite the distance because of the energy frequencies.

Dr. Lakhovsky had used countless carrier waves (multi-wave oscillator) with which all cells could go into a harmonic unison/ resonance like an activated tuning fork. He also used high-frequency electrical currents.

There was a whole range of suppliers of various high-frequency devices with different technologies. In general, however, these high-frequency devices were so strong in their effect on health that there were over 500,000 devices in Germany alone in 1934 (before they were banned in 1938).

Dr. Lakhovsky wrote about the results achieved in his book published in 1934, entitled "The Multiwave Oscillator": "Abroad, the apparatus was already being used successfully in Italy, Spain, Belgium, Holland, Sweden, Uruguay, etc. Everywhere in the world the results have exceeded all hopes".

The TESLA oscillator is a version newly developed by Russian scientists the basis of all these findings and even more significantly improved, which is manufactured in Germany using the latest technical and medical findings.

A major disadvantage of the Lakhovsky device (and some devices also offered on the market today) was that the frequencies also resonate with metal, which means that they cannot be used for implants with metal parts because of the extreme heat generation (more than two hundred degrees can occur and even a spark gap is formed).

The TESLA oscillator works only with one Tesla carrier wave onto which the most important information frequencies and energy frequencies are modulated. In addition, these frequencies resonate exclusively with water.

The results of the TESLA oscillator have already exceeded all expectations, as confirmed by numerous detailed user reports. There are no negative affects.

What happens now when using the TESLA oscillator and the exposure of the body or drinking water.

Via a carrier wave (144.015 MHz) information and energy signals are transmitted to water and the body:

- An extensive portfolio of important information frequencies which bring all our 200 oscillating circuits back into harmony and can go into harmonic unison / resonance with all the different cell units; this results in a reset of the cells, more energy for the cells and an optimization of the cells.

- High frequency electrical energy pulses -70 millivolts to help the cell to rebuild the optimal electrical cell membrane tension necessary for health; this is essential for good cell function. At a cell membrane voltage of -50 millivolts or less and/or acidic environment, the function of the cells is severely restricted. Tumour or cancer cells have a cell membrane voltage of only -15 millivolts.
- The cells with a reduced cell membrane voltage are called refractory because they can no longer recognise and process the control signals of the body.

These energy impulses now find the worst, weakest cells, because they have the lowest electrical resistance, and electrical current behaves like water, it flows where it can flow most easily. A healthy cell has a high electrical resistance of 2,500 OHM. A tumour cell, for example, has only 300 OHM.

Resting potential / Cell voltage
less than minus - 50 mV

The cell is refractory

- insensitive to control signals
- Food transport is very limited

Resting potential / Cell voltage
- 50 mV to - 90 mV

The cell is excitable

- responds to control signals
- Food transport is optimal

In the diseased cells, the impulses strongly activate the energy centres, the mitochondria, and generate heat in the cell itself and thus locally "artificial fever". This imitates nature; nature generates fever in order to kill parasites, fungi, viruses and pathogenic bacteria with the heat. This overall signal also causes the

- Drinking water becomes hexagonal with all the important advantages of hexagonality.
- Additionally, all body fluids become hexagonal, also with all the advantages.

The incredible health benefits of "hexagonal water" have been extensively researched internationally using the example of "Hunza water". Hunza water is pure, structured and energized glacier drinking water in a high mountain valley in Pakistan. The people who drink this water live to be 120 years old on average.

It was then scientifically established that "hexagonal water" (the water molecules form hexagonal, crystalline-like structures/rings) stands for the following potential:

- Improved hydration
- Optimum sewing nutrient uptake
- Improved cell availability
- Strong antioxidant and anti-inflammatory effect
- Improved mode of action of hormones and enzymes
- Optimal flow rate of body fluids (especially blood, lymph, liquor etc.)
- Effective detoxification
- More efficient metabolism
- Improved cell communication
- Power Generation
- Increased protection of cells, their organelles and especially DNA

It is easy to imagine the immense advantages users of the TESLA oscillator may experience. Many call this invention therefore also the "gift of Tesla to mankind".

The application is as follows: After switching on the device.

Step I Water vitalization: With the TESLA Oscillator Antenna you first irradiate pure drinking water by holding the antenna for 5 minutes from the outside of a glass/pot, or by inserting it into the water protected by a test tube (never hold the antenna directly into the water). This water is then "hexagonal", restructured, energized and charged with the most important information frequencies for all cells. This water then has the same structure as the probably healthiest natural water in the world, the Hunza water, and is called "hexagonal" because of its structure. One drinks this water and then waits about 5 minutes before beginning the body irradiation.

Step II body exposure: Apply the antenna (hold the handle so that the red counter-antenna always points away from the body and is not touched) only lightly in accordance with the exposure points specified in the operating instructions; only expose these points for one minute at a time. However, pain or problem points can be exposed for much longer, e.g. 15 minutes or more. An overdose is not possible because of the ultra high frequency used.

If parts of the body become very hot, this is only due to the reactions of the cells (repair processes are initiated). Then the antenna should be removed and one should go back to the affected area later.

What exactly happens now when the body is exposed to radiation:

- At first / Firstly, the body fluids with which the impulses can resonate become hexagonal; since 99% of all molecules in a person's body are water molecules, this is a very important aspect.
- Secondly, all cells receive their respective natural frequencies, their favourite frequencies, with which they can resonate like a tuning fork in order to work harmoniously.

- thirdly, the body is supported in raising the electrical cell membrane tension, which is crucial for the health of the cells, to the optimal level of at least -70 millivolts. For instance tumor or cancer cells only have a cell membrane voltage of -15 millivolts as described above.
- Fourthly, the signals in the cells generate heat inside the cell by activating the mitochondria. This heat, so called artificial fever on site, leads to the death of parasites, fungi, viruses and bacteria.
- For all these reasons, the TESLA oscillator can be used both preventively and to treat all kinds of complaints from A - Z with great benefit.
